

“A Shift from Japan to United States: Korea's FTA Policy in 2004-2006”

DR. Yul Sohn

Professor of Graduate School of International Studies at Yonsei University in Seoul, Korea.

Professor Sohn received his PhD in political science from the University of Chicago in 1994. His fields of concentration are political economy in Japan and East Asia, international political economy, and East Asian regionalism. His most recent publications include “East Asia: Contested International Society,” World Politics Journal 30, 1(Winter 2009); “Whither the Japanese Model?: Evolutionary Changes and the Rise of Many Japans” Journal of International and Area Studies (June 2008); “International Political Economy of Korea’s FTA,” World Politics Journal (Fall 2007).

Date: 25 February (Thur), 2010

Time: 16:30-18:00

Venue: Room 710, Building 19

Language: English

Translation: Japanese-Korean, Korean-Japanese in Q and A session

Moderator: Jemma Kim , Assistant Professor, Waseda University

Organized by: GIARI : Global Institute for Asian Regional Integration (Waseda University Global COE Program)